

February 5, 2010
Essay Contest Opportunity!!!!

We have an opportunity this year in Biology to enter an essay contest for the PA Society for Biomedical Research. The contest is open to all PA students. The topic of the essay is: "Why Are Animals Used In Biomedical Research?" There are $2,050 in prizes and 6 finalists. The submission date is Monday March 1st. The essay is optional to all students but strongly encouraged. Due to the research involved, it is being offered as 2 extra credit assignments for the 3rd quarter. I will be available for the next 3 Tuesdays after school with supplied reference materials. Also, the English teachers will be available for editing purposes. I urge you to encourage the students to participate. This is a wonderful opportunity to broaden their scientific horizons!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rossana